 Cookies

Cookies are small text files that websites send to the devices of the users that visit them, where they are stored and then transmitted back to the websites on the next visit. "Third-party" cookies are set by a website other than the one the user is visiting. This is because each website may contain elements (images, maps, sounds, specific links to web pages on other domains, etc.) that reside on servers other than that of the website visited.

Cookies are used for different purposes: execution of computer authentication, session monitoring, storage of information on specific configurations regarding the users who access the server, storage of preferences, etc.

Technical cookies. These are cookies that are required to allow navigation or to provide a service requested by the user. They are not used for other purposes and are normally installed directly by the owner of the website.

Profiling cookies. These cookies are used to track the navigation of the user online and create profiles regarding their tastes, habits, choices etc. Through these cookies, advertising messages can be sent to the user's device in line with the preferences shown by the same user during online navigation.

- This website uses session, technical and profiling cookies.
- The use of session cookies (i.e., temporary cookies that are removed when the browser session is closed) is exclusively in order to optimise use of the website and therefore to ensure the best navigation experience on the website.
- The technical cookies used include analytical cookies with anonymisation of the IP address, for which the third party undertakes not to cross-reference the information contained in the cookies with any other information already in its possession (these cookies are deemed equal to technical cookies according to the Data Protection Authority <http://www.garanteprivacy.it/web/guest/home/docweb/-/docweb-display/docweb/4006878>). For the third-party cookies: Google Analytics
- Technical cookies do not require consent and are installed automatically on access to the website.
- Third-party profiling cookies.

The purpose of these cookies is to analyse the user's actions and the websites visited and to provide commercial content and advertising in line with the user's interests via third-party partners. Cookies may also be used to allow links to social networks. Technology similar to cookies may be used for the same purposes.

The use of these forms of technology is governed by the privacy policies of the respective companies and not by this privacy policy.

Profiling cookies are only installed after the user has granted their explicit consent.

Consent can be revoked at any time by removing the cookies installed by the site: Chrome – Firefox – Internet Explorer – Opera – Safari

- The saving of cookies can be disabled by changing browser settings. However, this may lead to a malfunction in the navigation of the website. Below are links regarding configuration of the most commonly used browsers: Chrome – Firefox – Internet Explorer – Opera – Safari.
